ITMF Awards 2022

For the first time ITMF will present awards in the categories “Sustainability & Innovation” and “International Cooperation”

The International Textile Manufacturers Federation (ITMF, www.itmf.org) is supporting and promoting sustainable environmental, social, and economic production along the entire textile value chain. Companies and organizations around the world are investing time and resources to develop and improve sustainable solutions. Another important aspect in today’s complex world is the increased necessity to cooperate with different partners from industry, research, and governments.
